CUBANS THROING TO COOLIDGE

HARBOR SITES REVEALED; MAKE CITY A SEAPORT

Cost of Project Put at $4,500,000.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The Commercial club, father of the Chicago Plan, designed by Daniel H. Burnham, has developed a scheme of harbor facilities for the entire metropolitan area, with Maj. Rufus W. Putnam as its chief engineer. The design of the harbor plan was undertaken at the request of the city, required two years, and cost approximately $50,000.

It is vigorously urged that construction of suitable and adequate harbor facilities be started at once and completed before the lakes-to-the-gulf waterway is placed in operation in 1932. This can be done, according to Maj. Putnam's report, for the surprisingly low cost—expenditures are now considered in Chicago—of less than $4,500,000.

At the same time the Commercial club advocates that preparations be made to care for an increased lake tonnage and ocean vessels, via the St. Lawrence waterway. This construction, it is urged, should proceed as requirements necessitate.

By these developments it is predicted that lake boats will be attracted to the Chicago river, a fixed bridge policy will be inaugurated, and the city will save in direct costs a minimum of $900,000 annually and a maximum of $2,000,000, and also the city will get an indirect additional benefit of $200,000 to $300,000 a year.

Not only did the Commercial club study harbors for steam craft, but it also recommended an airport on the lake front in the neighborhood of 16th street. There it would set aside 320 acres, with a southwest runway 2,200 feet long, and east and west runways of 1,600 feet, and a north and south runway of 2,700 feet, all 400 feet wide.

The south park commission has offered to bear the expense, so that the city corporate funds would not be incumbered.

States Argument for Action.

In the Commercial club argument for action at once is also contained the object for the development of harbor facilities. This is in part as follows:

"Vast expenditures are being made for the completion of two great waterway systems of transportation, both of which have one terminus in Chicago. When these waterway systems are completed, Chicago will be the focal point where the deep sea traffic from the east by way of the great lakes meets the greatest railroad center of the world as the water artery across the low divide leading into the productive Mississippi valley, and eventually to another deep sea port at New Orleans.

Points to Present Opportunity.

There is an opportunity now, before the final completion of these projects, to lay out in Chicago the harbor facilities for both kinds of waterborne traffic, with suitable arrangements for transfer, one to the other. The commerce which is destined to move over these routes must not be delayed by any lack of preparation on the part of Chicago. Plans must be adopted and put in the course of construction before private enterprise has gone so far with disconnected developments as to interfere with and perhaps greatly delay the construction of connected and well considered harbors."

The report incorporating that view is signed by the following citizens: William Rufus Abbott, Sewell L. Avery, Abel Davis, Samuel M. Felton, John V. Farrell, E. N. Hurley, John T. Mott, Hale Holden, Charles H. Markham, Frederick H. Rawson, A. A. Savage, F. Edison White and Rufus C. Dawes, chairman.

Five Projects Proposed.

The plan recommended consists of five main projects, with several stages of construction for each. The committee's summary of these projects is as follows:

1. It is proposed to focus around the Municipal pier an intensified harbor development for lake and ocean-going vessels which furnish passenger and package freight service. Some modifications of this pier are necessary to bring it into full usefulness for the entire city, especially for commercial and industrial traffic and readily accessible by rail and street connections.

2. East and west of Cicero avenue large barge terminal and warehouse buildings are proposed on the main Chicago canal, this being a central point for the entire city, especially for commercial and industrial traffic and readily accessible by rail and street connections.

3. The first unit of a large harbor, located on page 2, column 2.

COMPLETE PLAN OF $20,000,000 OPERA PALACE

Insull Gives Details of Skyscraper.

BY KATHLEEN McLAUGHLIN.

Details of the plans for what is regarded as Chicago's outstanding cultural achievement of the decade—the permanent home of the Chicago Civic Opera company—were made public yesterday for the first time by Samuel Insull, president of the organization.

Evolved after two years of study, travel, and conferences, these plans not only provide for material facilities that are expected to place Chicago in a premier position among the music centers of the world, but also contemplate the ultimate independent financial support of the Civic Opera and the endowment of a musical educational foundation for the city.

For the first time there is a 42-story edifice, involving the expenditure of more than $20,000,000, occupying an entire city block and embodying the results of intensive study and research on a scale probably never before attempted to similar undertakings. It will include not only an opera house and a small theater, but also shops, stores and offices.

"In completeness, in perfection of detail, and in all around adjustment to the purposes to be served," the report says of the opera house and the small theater, "it is believed both will be far ahead of any others now in existence."

For the second, there will be the revenue resulting from the renting of the total of 662,000 square feet of office rooms, of which 500,000 square feet will be in the 21 stories of the main building, and the remainder in a 21-story tower.

Will Ease Financing.

"It is not to be expected," the report warns, "that completion and occupancy of the building will immediately dispense with the necessity of a guarantee fund for maintenance of the Chicago Civic opera. But the financing of opera should be made somewhat easier when the building is finished and tenanted."

Eventually, as indicated by Mr. Insull in his address near the close of the 1926-27 season, it is believed the revenues from the building will serve, in effect, as an endowment, providing a home for opera free of charge, covering the inevitable annual deficit in the operation of the opera season, and establishing a great civic foundation with income enough to promote artistic education in music and collateral features of opera."

As announced some time ago, the site of the structure, which will be known officially as the No. Twenty Wacker Drive building, will be the block bounded by Wacker drive, formerly Market street, Washington boulevard, Madison street and the Chicago river.

Plaza for Aid to Traffic.

This location on Wacker drive is the only one near the center of the city that is wide enough for a plan comparable with European plazas and squares, which are of great advantage in handling vehicular traffic. Other transportation facilities, including two surface car lines, the elevated, and the Union and North Western railroad stations, are equal, if not superior, to those of other sites studied, it is pointed out in the report.

Architecturally, the structure has been designed to express not only the "monumental" character associated with great opera houses abroad, but also the practical and commercial uses to which it will be adapted.

Rising 270 feet from the ground level will be the main body of the edifice, 21 stories high. It will have a frontage of 400 feet on Wacker drive, 190 feet on Madison street, and 150 feet on Washington boulevard.

21 Stories in Tower.

The additional 21 stories of the central tower, of which the base dimensions will be 340 feet by 70 feet, will rise to a height of 550 feet above the street level. There will also be the equivalent of two and three stories below the street level, part of which will be utilized by the Commonwealth Edison company for one of its important downtown substations.

The building will be U-shaped, with the front and sides occupied by shops and stores. The side portions or

Posses Hunt Missing Smith College Girl

Northampton, Mass., Jan. 15.—(AP)—Several hundred police and Boy Scouts started a search today for Miss Frances St. John Smith, 18, a Smith college freshman, and daughter of a wealthy New York broker, who has been missing since Friday morning.

Her father, St. John Smith, has offered a $1,000 reward for information which would result in finding the girl. Miss Smith's maternal grandfather was Walter Howland, a Chicago lawyer for many years and later treasurer of Amherst college.

Drain Campus Pond.

While the posses of police and Boy Scouts searched the vicinity, college authorities started draining Paradise pond on the Smith college campus.

The girl's disappearance is similar to that of Alice Corbett, 19-year-old Utica, N. Y., girl, who never was seen again after she vanished from Smith college on Nov. 13, 1925. College officials were impressed by the coincidence that both students disappeared on Friday, the 13th.

Miss Smith was last seen at breakfast on Friday. She was not missed, however, until yesterday afternoon, when one of her classmates called at her room in Dewey hall and found a note, which she had left for the girl the day before, unopened.

Believe Girl Was Despondent.

When last seen the girl wore an orange colored jersey dress, a terra cotta coat with a brown fur collar and tan shoes. She has light brown hair and bluish grey eyes. Her fingers are exceptionally long and on the fourth right hand finger she wore a small gold ring with a black enamel vine.

Her father said that she suffered from an injured knee, which often became dislocated and prevented her from walking. A fall, he said, would make her helpless. College officials believe that the girl was despondent because she was low in her studies.

Boy Shoots Stepmother When He Beats Mother

Edward Haumer, 17 years old, 1249 South Loomis street, was shot yesterday morning by his stepson, Albert Range, 18 years old. Haumer was beating his wife, Mrs. Gladys Haumer, in the home when Range, her son by a former marriage, came running into the room with a revolver and fired two shots at Haumer, the police were told. Range was taken into custody. Haumer was taken to the Bridgeview hospital.

TALKING BARBER BORES CUSTOMER TO VIOLENT DEED

Sam Pardo, 2068 Kendall street, walked into the barber shop of Jim Arvio at 1257 South State street yesterday, sat in Arvio's chair and asked curiously for a haircut and shave. Arvio started to work.

"Well, it's fine weather we're having for this time of the year, isn't it?" said Arvio as he snipped away.

Pardo made no answer. But Arvio ignored that.

"You know," the barber went on, "there was a fellow come in here the other day and—"

The story went on and on through the entire haircut and shave.

Then as the barber lifted him back into a sitting position Pardo leaped from the chair, seized an iron bar that lay on the floor and struck the barber over the head, knocking him unconscious.

"I did it because he talked too much," Pardo said to the police.

Edward L. Ryerson, Steel Manufacturer, Seriously Ill

Edward L. Ryerson Sr., president of the Joseph T. Ryerson Steel company, is critically ill at his home, 38 Banks street, it was learned yesterday. Mr. Ryerson suffered a stroke last Friday night.

Woman Is Killed.

Mrs. Mildred Struzenberg, 44, of 6802 South Winchester avenue, was killed early this morning when the automobile driven by her husband, Herman, collided with another machine at 47th and Western avenue. Struzenberg was badly cut and both Donald Volkman, 25, 6955 Hodge street, and his passenger, Walter Wagner, 27, 2714 West 65th street, were injured.

Another victim of death by automobile was Leon Leparski, 39 years old, 2812 West 47th street. He was found unconscious on the street and was taken to the county hospital, where he died. The police were unable to learn who drove the car that struck him.

These deaths and two others yesterday raised the toll in Cook county since Jan. 1 to 27.

N. U. Student Dies in Crash After Dance

Herbert Ewald Siebel, 22 years old, a senior at Northwestern university, was fatally injured early yesterday morning when the roadster he was driving collided with a taxicab at Clarendon and Montrose avenues.

Siebel was pinned under the car when it overturned. He died a short time later. Philip Sherman, 23 years old, 1619 South Komensky avenue, driver of the cab, was held by the police. Neither he nor his passenger, William Griffith, of Philadelphia, was injured.

Young Siebel was the son of E. H. Siebel, 647 Junior terrace, owner of the Central Products company, chemical manufacturers at 1358 North Wells street.

Mrs. Mildred Struzenberg, 44, of 6802 South Winchester avenue, was killed early this morning when the automobile driven by her husband, Herman, collided with another machine at 47th and Western avenue. Struzenberg was badly cut and both Donald Volkman, 25, 6955 Hodge street, and his passenger, Walter Wagner, 27, 2714 West 65th street, were injured.

Another victim of death by automobile was Leon Leparski, 39 years old, 2812 West 47th street. He was found unconscious on the street and was taken to the county hospital, where he died. The police were unable to learn who drove the car that struck him.

These deaths and two others yesterday raised the toll in Cook county since Jan. 1 to 27.

Injuries received when he was struck by an automobile Saturday caused the death of Emil Rickman, 49 years old, 5525 Augusta street, in the West Suburban hospital, Oak Park.

Blame Lack of Lights.

The fact that street lights were not burning was given by Wabash avenue police as the cause of the death of an unidentified man who was struck and killed yesterday evening by an automobile at Michigan avenue and 69th street. The driver of the car, John Gieginski, 31 years old, 2300 Normal avenue, said he was going north on Wabash avenue and because there were no lights burning at that point he did not see the man, who was crossing 69th street.

At Gary three young men, riding a motorcycle and its attached side car, collided with an automobile on Ridge road. One of the 190, Abilio Quin, 25 years old, was killed. His companions, John Floris, 25 years old, and Arthur Johnson, 24 years old, were injured.

Face Accusers Before School Chiefs Today

Seventy boys and seventy girls—students at the Medill High school, 1326 West 14th place—who attended a dinner dance at the Club Bagdad, 64th street and Cottage Grove avenue Saturday after midnight, will enter a formal protest today against what they characterize as a deliberate attack on their school standing and moral uprightness by a group of local prohibition officials.

The students, through their leaders, took their stand after Acting Superintendent of Schools William J. Bogan had called a special meeting of school principals for 10:30 o'clock this morning to investigate the prohibition raiders' charges that the students had been drinking so heavily many of them were intoxicated.

Deny Having Any Liquor.

Allen Schultz, 1420 Washburn avenue, president of the senior class at Medill, and Sidney Waller, chairman of the senior prom committee, leaders at the night club dinner dance, denied emphatically that even one drop of liquor was consumed at the students' tables. Likewise, they denied the raid was made while they were at the club.

"Our party of seventy couples got to the Club Bagdad about 12:30 o'clock Sunday morning," young Schultz said. "The raid must have been made just before we got there, because we saw this group of fifteen prohibition agents going out as we were going to our tables."

The students earlier had attended the Medill senior prom at the Davis hotel. About ninety couples had been at the dance. By an arrangement made two weeks ago, Schultz and Waller said, seventy of the couples went to the night club for dinner after the prom.

Heard Talk of Raid.

All the Medill students knew of any raid, the two boys said, was that they saw the agents leaving as they arrived and heard some talk there had been a visit by the agents, who had seized some bottles.

Deputy Prohibition Administrator Jamie himself led the raid. Some of the agents said the place had been under surveillance by government men and the raid resulted from that.

Others said Mr. Jamie had been called by the mother of one of the students, who complained her son was attending a wild drinking party, and the raid came from that.

The prohibition authorities also said a number of the students had been held for a time and questioned.

All this is flatly denied by the two student leaders and they say that 70 boys and 70 girls will be at the board of education headquarters this morning to face their accusers and answer any charges they may make. They will also demand that the stigma that has been put upon them be removed.

Will Face Accusers Today.

"I understand Mr. Bogan has invited Jamie and his prohibition agents to the principals' meeting," Schultz, the class president, said. "All I hope is that they come. We'll be there to make them retract their charges. It's high time all this loose talk about widespread immorality and drunkenness among high school students is checked up."

"Furthermore, Samuel Center, physical director at the school, was there with his wife. They acted as chaperons. Also Miss Joyce Adams, dean of women at the school, knew we were going to the night club."

"Why did we go to the Club Bagdad? Well, it's the first time most of us were ever in a night club or cabaret in our lives. We wanted to see what it was like. We chose that particular place because last year's class went there and because we were given a special price for the management."

ARMED BANDITS GET $5,000 IN GAMING RESORT

Four men armed with machine guns early this morning held up a gambling house at 3032 Indiana avenue, said to be operated by Whitley Hawley, John Schelliey and a south side political leader, and escaped with $5,000 and a quantity of jewelry.

Crap games, poker and other diversions were in progress with about sixty players when the robbers entered.

"Everybody up and face the wall," the leader shouted as the quartet waved their guns menacingly. While three of the bandits kept the patrons covered, the third systematically searched them. Everything of value was taken.

They then backed slowly out of the front door and fled in an automobile they had left at the curb.

ROSES SHOWER ON PRESIDENT AS HE PASSES

Officials Greet Him at Dock.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.) (Copyright: 1928: By The Chicago Tribune.)

HAVANA, Cuba, Jan. 15.—Landing this afternoon from an American battleship on his expedition of peace and good will to the nations of the western hemisphere, President Coolidge had captured the people of Cuba by the time he reached the palace of the president of Cuba. He had traveled through lanes of gaily cheering tens of thousands of the populace. The capitulation of Havana was complete.

President Coolidge and Mrs. Coolidge were guests of honor tonight at a great state dinner given by President Machado of Cuba to the delegations to the sixth Pan-American conference, which will open here tomorrow with an address by the President of the United States.

Wild Welcome by Cubans.

The welcome accorded the American executive in this thirteenth year of Cuba's independence, won for the Cuban people by the United States, was a fitting prelude to the supreme gesture Mr. Coolidge will make tomorrow to disarm Latin American suspicions of the motives of the "colossus of the north" and to bring about a better understanding with the twenty other republics of the American continent.

It was such a welcome as President Coolidge had never received even on his native soil and such a demonstration as never had been witnessed in Havana. The President and Mrs. Coolidge, accompanied by Secretary of State Kellogg, Charles Evans Hughes, and other members of the American delegation to the Pan-American conference, had voyaged from Key West to Havana aboard the battleship Texas, escorted by the cruiser Memphis and four destroyers.

Shores Packed with People.

The ninety mile passage was made in five hours over a quiet sea. Under a brilliant, cloudless sky, with a gentle breeze tempering the tropical heat as the battleship rounded ancient Morro castle at the harbor entrance at 4 o'clock, President Coolidge got his first glimpse of the welcome in store for him. He saw on the shores a mass of cheering, half waving humanity right down to the water line.

The Texas fired the official salute of twenty-one guns to the Cuban republic as the battleship paid past Morro, now gay with fluttering flags and the dresses and parasols of women. Then La Cabana, another modern fortress a little farther inside the harbor, thundered forth the answering twenty-one guns of Cuba to the American President, and the two gunboats within the harbor constituting the Cuban navy took up the saluting with alternate guns.

Harbor Abuzz with Flags.

The harbor craft were abuzz with the flags of the American nations. There was a deafening din of sirens from all sides. The massed thousands on the shore and clustered on every building within sight were wildly cheering as the Texas, with President Coolidge, sail hatted and frock coated on the forward deck, slid into the harbor and dropped anchor on the spot where the Maine was blown up thirty years ago.

Presently an official craft reached the Texas, bearing the Cuban government reception party headed by Dr. Rafael Martinez Ortiz, secretary of state, and accompanied by Col. Nobis B. Judah, American ambassador in Cuba, and Dwight Morrow, American ambassador to Mexico. "The Star Spangled Banner" was played by the band of the Texas, the Cuban national anthem was played, there was an exchange of felicitations between President Coolidge and Dr. Ortiz, and then President Coolidge and his party disembarked.

Coolidge Taken Ashore.

They were hurried to the dock in the official launch while the Texas fired the presidential salute of twenty-one guns.

A few steps from the dock, in a pavilion trimmed with bunting and festoons of the leaves of the palm tree, President Machado received President Coolidge. The Cuban president, a great shouldered man, with a shock of iron gray hair, looking for all the world like a Spanish version of Miriam Johnson, spectacles and all, stepped forward and cordially greeted Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge and the other members of the American official party.

Senior Machado speaks but a few words of English and President Coolidge speaks no Spanish, but interpreters wings, as shown in the view facing the Chicago river, will embrace the opera house.

An impressive colonnade will extend along practically the entire 400 feet of Wacker drive frontage. Entrance to the opera house will be through a south end of the colonnade, entrance to the small theater through the north end, and entrance to the foyer, elevators, and the office building will be through the center.

Patrons of the opera coming on foot by trolley or in motor cars will arrive under this great colonnade, which will provide protection from the weather and will be ample to permit of 35 to 40 automobiles taking on or discharging passengers there at once.

Ten local, eight express and eight tower elevators will serve the building. Ticket lobbies will be placed adjacent to the entrances, but out of the way of persons coming in or leaving.

The seating capacity of the opera house will be a bit more than the 3,600 of the present Auditorium. Instead of the 900 seats on the main floor of the latter, however, there will be approximately 1,700. Side boxes will be dispensed with, and instead of the 65 at the Auditorium there will be 125, each of which will offer a perfect view of the stage. Above the box office floor, will be the balcony and gallery, each with approximately 850 seats.

Study Acoustical Features.

"Utilization of the acoustical features and other advantages and qualities of the old and historic Auditorium," it is said, "has been fundamental to the planning of the new opera house. These features have been carefully studied, and every detail that would add to the quality of the new achievement, both in front and back of the footlights, has been carefully employed. This auditorium,

SERGEANT

Beulah McNeil, Kenosha police-woman, promoted for courageous work and attention to duty.

It is believed, will be the first in which the combined problems of proper vision and perfect acoustics have been worked out as one and then carried out on a large scale. Each has been made to fit the other."

The exterior of the building, which it is hoped to have in readiness for the opening of the opera season in the fall of 1929, will probably be faced with limestone for three stories, and the remainder with brick and terra cotta. The general tone will be a soft gray, with conservative employment of color.

ADMIRAL HUGHES TO PICTURE NEED OF BIG CRUISERS

Will Testify Before Committee Today.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 15.—(Special.)—Admiral Charles F. Hughes, chief of naval operations and president of the navy general board, will be the principal witness before the house naval affairs committee tomorrow when it resumes consideration of the $740,000,000 fleet strengthening bill.

Little attention has been paid thus far by the committee to the specific reasons why twenty-five 10,000-ton cruisers, nine destroyer leaders, thirty-five submarines and five aircraft carriers must be built to make the American fleet first class, and Admiral Hughes will be expected to detail the navy's needs.

Because of his recent experiences as commanding admiral of the United States fleet, special attention will be directed to that part of the admiral's testimony devoted to the need of long range cruisers. It is said that maps disclosing this country's scarcity of fueling and supply bases in both the Atlantic and Pacific have been prepared by Admiral Hughes to illustrate why the United States must have cruisers sufficiently powerful to travel long distances before refueling.

The same maps may show how Great Britain with her large number of bases in all parts of the world is able to get along with smaller cruisers. While the committee on Saturday placed itself squarely in favor of setting a definite time limit for completion of ships, and against any legislation which would permit the President to halt the building of ships once they have been started, the fight for passage of such legislation has only begun, it is asserted.

New York, Jan. 15.—Standard Oil Company in what is perhaps the most significant action of the kind ever taken by a corporation, has announced a world-wide war on shell company, the which is the British.

The war hinges on the fact that the British government has broken up by police, soldiers, and firemen, who turned a hose on the crowd.

1. Before 1924 both Standard and Shell jointly owned the oil for ships in the Orient.

2. The British government made war on the Russians out of the Urged Standard to the Royal Dutch.

3. The Royal Dutch wanted the Standard to be a Standard was a of transportation from Russia to the oriental markets. It selling with Russia a pact, joined by its the Vacuum Oil company.

STANDARD OIL
AND DUTCH SHELL
WAGE WORLD WARU. S. Giant Accepts Gage
of European Rival.

New York, Jan. 15.—[Special].—The Standard Oil Company of New York is what is perhaps the first formal action of the kind ever taken by order of its board of directors, has declared a world-wide war on the Royal Dutch Shell company, the chief owner of which is the British government.

The war hinges over Russia, and the facts involved follow:

1. Before 1924 both the Royal Dutch and Standard jointly bought Russian crude oil for shipment to India and the Orient.

2. The British government declared a trade war on Soviet Russia and ran the Russians out of England.

3. Urged Standard to John Boycott.

4. The Royal Dutch Shell, determined to boycott the Russian market, wanted the Standard to do the same thing.

5. Standard was saving 5,000 miles of transportation expense by shipping from Russia to the Indian and other oriental markets. It refused to cease dealing with Russia and made new contracts, joined by its sister corporation, the Vacuum Oil company.

6. Sir Henri Deterding, chairman of the board of Royal Dutch Shell, started price cutting against the Standard in India and all over the world.

Declaration of War.

The formal statement of the Standard says in opening:

"Standard Oil Company of New York has until now refrained from making any public comment upon the attacks directed against it by Sir Henri Deterding, chairman of the Royal Dutch Shell company, on account of the purchases of Russian oil. Those tactics have now assumed such a character, however, that it is considered by Standard Oil Company of New York that the public should have the facts."

The statement recites that Royal Dutch Shell was trying to get a monopoly of the Russian supply for itself, and then when Britain and Soviet Russia broke Deterding sought to keep the Standard out of business in the field from which British politics barred his own concern. On Sept. 19, 1927, Royal Dutch Shell notified Standard that it would cut prices as soon as any more Russian oil reached Indian ports.

DRY'S DAY TODAY,
8TH BIRTHDAY OF
18TH AMENDMENT

The eighth birthday of the 18th amendment will be quietly celebrated today by Chicago drys. It was stated yesterday. But no official celebrations are scheduled. The amendment to the constitution went into effect Jan. 16, 1920, some months after wartime prohibition had been inaugurated.

Prohibition, if not the best method of curbing the liquor evil, has proved better than the "prayers and pledges of early temperance crusaders," Mrs. Ella A. Boole, president of the National W. C. T. U., said in a statement calling attention to the anniversary.

"On prohibition's anniversary, the public should take an inventory of how it has helped enforcement," she said.

SCHOOL JANITOR
INSPECTION TOUR
TO START TODAY

A change in the janitor system of the public schools is expected to be recommended on the return of a school board committee which left last night for an inspection of the service in the schools of St. Louis, Cincinnati, Cleveland, New York, Boston, and Detroit.

The group consists of School Trustees Mrs. W. S. Hefferan and Theophilus Schmid and Business Manager John E. Byrnes. They will be joined in New York by President J. Lewis Coath.

Much criticism has developed since the former method of cleaning and heating the school plants was transferred from the contract to the civil service system. The present method, officials admit, is more costly than the contract system, and it is charged that it is being seized as an opportunity for putting political favorites on the pay roll.

During the junket the committee, it is said, will decide upon some more economical system and one that will eliminate criticism.

LEJEUNE SPEEDS UP NICARAGUAN WAR ON BANDITS

Will Seize All Towns in Sandino District.

BY LOUIS ROSENTHAL.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
[Copyright: 1928: By The Chicago Tribune.]
MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Jan. 15.—Maj. Gen. John A. Lejeune, who arrived at Corinto on the light cruiser Trenton today, flew to Managua in an amphibian airplane. Brig. Gen. Logan Deland, who arrived this afternoon on a special train, took over the command of all the marine and naval forces ashore in Nicaragua, relieving Col. Louis Mason Gulick, who probably will proceed to Occotal to command the expeditionary army.

The marines and bluejackets ashore now total nearly 2,000. The transport Nitro is due Monday with 500 more marines.

Will Occupy All Towns.
The present plan is to occupy every town and settlement of north Nicaragua and drive out, kill or capture all of Gen. Sandino's bandits. The general belief is, however, that Gen. Sandino will flee into Honduras to avoid engagement with the superior marine forces and then make occasional raids into Nicaragua.

Every available freight car of the Pacific railway has been commissioned by the marines to carry troops and supplies to Chinandega and Leon and other points in the north.

Corinto harbor resembles a naval base. The cruisers Galveston, Tulsa, Milwaukee, Trenton, and Rochester are lying at anchor and the naval forces control the port, having taken over the operation of the wharf, where

ALL OF HIS NAMESAKES ARE URGED TO HONOR BENJAMIN FRANKLIN

The Benjamin Franklins were reminded yesterday in a letter from B. F. Affleck, chairman of their society, that tomorrow is the birthday anniversary of the man after whom they were named.

Included in the letter was a list of the principal accomplishments of Benjamin Franklin in the many fields that he essayed. Among these were that he secured the aid of France in the revolutionary war; helped write the Declaration of Independence; was primarily instrumental in securing repeal of the stamp acts; organized the first anti-slavery society; founded the University of Pennsylvania; established the first circulating library; identified lightning as electricity; was editor of the first and most successful newspaper of his time, and, above all, through his service to America was known as the nation's greatest citizen, who preferred to be known as Benjamin Franklin, printer.

a strike prevailed until a few days ago.

National Guardsman Slain.
A National Guardsman was killed today on the outskirts of Managua near where the car of President Adolfo Diaz was halted Jan. 1. A patrol shortly after killed the bandit. The bombing on all known Sandino bases continued today.

All the marines wounded in the recent engagements will be sent to the United States Tuesday on the transport Nitro.

Pastor Shuler Calls Bomb Attack Underworld Plot
Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 15.—(AP)—The Rev. Bob Shuler, anti-vice crusader, today characterized as an "underworld attempt to terrify and intimidate me" the bomb explosion which last night did minor damage to the Trinity Methodist Church, South, and over the operation of the wharf, where

POLAND REJECTS KOVNO'S PEACE PARLEY TERMS

Lithuanians Tear Up Rail Line to Vilna.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
WARSAW, Poland, Jan. 15.—The conditions outlined in the Lithuanian reply to the Polish note regarding negotiations for a peace settlement are unacceptable to Poland, it was decided at the cabinet session today. A stern protest was drafted and sent to Kovno, the Lithuanian capital.

The Lithuanian dictator, Augustinas Waldemaras, wants to shelve the peace conference until the Lithuanian people have had a referendum on the constitution, as the constitution includes clauses stating that Vilna is the Lithuanian capital. If a popular vote endorses the constitution, as is virtually certain, Premier Waldemaras will tell Poland he no longer is the master and must carry out the popular demand for continuation of efforts to recover Vilna. In addition, Premier Waldemaras refuses to allow the transit of trade or crossing of the border near Vilna.

Lithuanians Tear Up Rail.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
RIGA, Latvia, Jan. 15.—The Lithuanian politicians have found a new way to annoy the Poles, according to a dispatch from Kovno, and workmen now are destroying the Lithuanian part of the railroad which once connected Kovno with Vilna.

Transport by Auto Only.
The Lithuanian ministry of communications reports that the materials are needed for further construction of railroads connecting Schwall and Mommel. Should the Poles succeed in forcing Lithuania to open direct communication the only means of transport between Kovno and Vilna will be by auto.

NORRIS AND BEER SPLIT RADICALS IN BADGER STATE

La Follette, Blaine Rush to Quell Mutiny.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 15.—[Special.]—Beer and radicalism have tossed Wisconsin politics into a hodge-podge of uproarious commotion. Mutiny has broken out among the La Follette-Blaine state for delegates to the national convention against the idea of pledging them to Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska for President, a dry of dry.

A group from Milwaukee is vociferating that it will not submit to being changed to any camel to make a Roman holiday at Kansas City next June. Senators Blaine and La Follette are announced as preparing to go to Madison for a meeting of the campaign committee Saturday.

At this meeting one leading problem is expected to be that of raising three rousing cheers for a dry for President with one lung and of chousing a wet plank with the other lung.

Sees No Harm in 3 Per Cent Beer.
Reports are being spread that Senator Norris has said he sees no harm in 3 per cent beer, but so far this has not perceptibly eased the discord among the La Follette-Blaine ranks, especially in Milwaukee and the Fox River towns where the federal agents are keeping the padlock factories working overtime.

Out of the dissension among the radicals arises a loud note of applause for Gov. Al Smith of New York. The theory of the Norris movement, as one hears it expounded by practical politicians here, war horses among the old line La Folletteites and among the Socialists, who are the second party in Wisconsin, is that Norris' candidacy is simply with a view of binding insurgent elements together in a group. The wet and dry question, however, is away out in Wisconsin, once famous the world over for its bottled stuff. Lately it has been accentuated by the work of the federal enforcement agents in closing up old-fashioned cafes and restaurants which had as clients the politicians and the business men.

Blind Pigs Still Abound.
The state, which was one of the wettest, in many spots Volstead being regarded as a myth from the start, still abounds in blind pigs, speakeasies, and bootleg joints, but the agents have been specializing on the places that drew the better element, the family custom, and there is much ado.

Politicians are pointing out that although former Senator Lenroot voted for prohibition and Volsteadism, while he was at Washington, enforcement somehow or other was not so stringent and a standardized mug of beer could be obtained openly by strangers in Milwaukee. The wets have laid hopes on Senator Blaine, but he apparently has no drag with the prohibition department.

Politicians point out the curious anomaly that Milwaukee is drier with a moist senator at Washington than with the dry Lenroot. Beer was a leading issue in the Lenroot-Blaine fight, and some Blaine warhorses insist the descent upon Milwaukee is perhaps by way of revenge.

Vellied Prophets Get Busy.

Some of the practical lads surmise that the La Follette-Blaine group may try to elect an uncommitted delegation to Kansas City, instead of openly pledging it to Norris. Right here, all the vellied prophets get busy. Looking ahead to next fall, there is a vast amount of conjecture, that if Gov. Smith is the Democratic nominee, he possibly may carry Wisconsin.

A bolt of the radical groups like that of four years ago, only this time the Democratic party instead of a third party, is regarded as not out of the question. The observer hears old war horses already proclaiming the progressiveness of Gov. Al Smith. If the Republicans should name a dry candidate, regarded as ultra conservative, the old timers say, Smith might get enough radical support in Wisconsin to give him the state.

Say Al Has Chance in Wisconsin.

Two radical war horses today, in weighing chances, figured that between Coolidge and Smith, the Democrat would carry the state; between Hoover and Smith, it would be a close fight; between Lowden and Smith, the chances would favor Lowden. If Senators Willis of Ohio, Curtis of Kansas, or Watson of Indiana, should be nominated, they figured Smith, if the Democratic candidate, would have a romp in Wisconsin.

Present prospects are that Wisconsin's delegation to Kansas City will be split up as never before in the last twenty years. The conservatives, although divided as usual, are preparing for unusually stiff fights in many districts.

ROUMANIA POOR, ALTHOUGH FULL OF NATURAL RICHES

Public Works Stagnant;
Credit Is Low.

BY LARRY RUE.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
BUCHAREST, Roumania, Jan. 15.—Roumania potentially is one of the richest countries of Europe, possessing a large store of natural resources. It has everything which makes for national and individual wealth and prosperity: wood, iron, coal, oil, excellent agricultural land. Its transportation problems are partly solved by rivers.

Yet today Roumania is without special credit. Its national credit is low in New York, Paris, and London. Insurance companies willing to take a chance on trans-Atlantic flyers, parachute jumpers or a movie star's complete refuse to take a risk on Roumanian credit.

When Rich Land by War.
Roumania, which signed a separate peace with Germany, was the great victor of the war. It doubled its size and tripled its population. Its advances in territory include the immensely rich agricultural, mineral and other lands of Transylvania, which, under the old Austro-Hungarian regime, rolled in wealth. Roumania was not a nice slice of territory from Russia, its former ally. This territory is Roumania.

Yet after eight years of "consolidating the country" Roumania is suffering dire poverty. There is no sign of prosperity in the entire country. Roumanian peasants today are eating bread made from Jugo-Slav and American flour, where before they raised enough to sell at a profit.

Use Horse Drawn Cars.
Public works are at a standstill. There is little if any construction work in Bucharest or elsewhere. In Bucharest today horse drawn street cars are used to pull passengers along the tracks. Pavements are in a state of disrepair. The streets are uncleared in days, covered with snow and slush in winter or insupportable dust in summer. These conditions, day after day, explain the prevalence of malaria and typhus.

The railroads have not been improved since the war. Despite the wholesale confiscation of Hungarian rolling stock when Roumanian troops invaded Budapest after the war to put an end to the Bela Kun bolshevik regime, despite numerous deliveries of locomotives and cars from Germany, the railroad equipment is daily becoming more inadequate.

Economically the country is veritably in a state of chaos. It is this condition which is now having its political reaction.

There was a peasants' revolt in Roumania in 1907. Five thousand were shot down by government troops. The people are girding for another battle with the government. The government is blamed universally for the bad economic condition.

The attack is led by Jules Maniu, intrepid leader of the opposition, who although offered half the ministries in the present government if he will "collaborate," has refused to accept what he regards as a bribe. He continues to hold that the "misguided economic policies" of the present premier, Vintila Bratianu, who was minister of finance in the government of his late brother, Jon Bratianu, are responsible for the miseries of the nation.

SOVIET WAR ON TROTSKY SPLITS REDS OF FRANCE

Paris Communists Oust
Leading "Pures."

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

PARIS, Jan. 15.—The split in the communist ranks in Moscow has thrown the French communist party into a turmoil. Scores of leading "pures" today were expelled from the central committee and various subordinate posts in the Red organization.

"Capt. Treint" and his companion, the notorious Suzanne Girault, two of the brightest torches of the French communist brigade, who formerly worked under direct orders from Leon Trotsky, were expelled from the party pay roll and forbidden to enter the meetings because they refused loyalty to the Trotsky-Rakovsky minority.

The vast demonstrations of protest against the government's "repressive measures" toward the five communist deputies, planned on the same scale as the Sacco-Vanzetti riots of August for the near future, have been seriously compromised by the disruption of the party, and it is believed they will be called off.

Urges Break with Moscow.

MOSCOW, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Pravda, official Soviet organ, today publishes two letters purporting to have been sent by Trotsky adherents to communists throughout the world to disavow the communist party in Russia. The letters call for renewed efforts to sustain the oppositionary cause in Russia, and one of them urges Trotsky followers to "break radically with the surrenderers and to separate openly from those who are wavering and hesitating."

Blames Trotsky Followers.

The newspaper emphasizes that the letters are apparently the work of the Trotskyists, who are continuing their activities, despite the disciplinary measures recently taken by the communist party against the opposition in general and Trotsky in particular.

Claims Trotsky Fomented Strike.

RUSSIA, Latvia, Jan. 15.—The reason for the banishment of Leon Trotsky and other members of the opposition to the Russian communist regime is explained by the paper Moscow Worker, which reports the checks discovered the opposition members were planning a strike of the workers in the textile mills of the Moscow district. The paper of the workers was further sharpened because they were not paid their December wages, and M. Trotsky and Gregory Zinoviev attempted to use the situation to organize a demonstration against Dictator Stalin.

RUSSIA URGED TO STOP PLOTS OF REDS IN U. S.

New York, Jan. 15.—(AP)—The American-Russian Chamber of Commerce has been asked by the National Civic Federation to demand that the Soviet government suppress "the subversive propaganda which it now is promoting in the United States."

The president and chairman of the board of directors of the chamber of commerce were asked in a letter by Matthew Woll, acting president of the National Civic Federation, and made public today, to urge their members "not to discontinue trading with the Soviet government, but to use your powerful influence in demanding and causing that government to cease the propaganda campaign."

EXHIBITING THE NEW CRYSTAL SILK PRINTS

Silks inspired by crystals—the animal figurines and flowers, of Paris fame! These beautiful prints in black and white with a touch of lively color are high lights in the season's vogue for printed frocks. Of course the delicate glass objects were too fragile to travel, but we are showing stunning pictures of them in shadow boxes, accompanied by our complete collection of these silk prints, so fascinating in design that they flash the light, the life and the charm of living crystals.

CRYSTALLIZATIONS OF THE NEW MODE

Ever changing and forming new crystals is the mode—assuming this form one season, that, the next. And like crystals the mode has its many sides, a few of which are shown in the coats, gowns and ensembles for the coming season, pictured and described on this page.

The first cape-coat arrives! Always a thrilling event is the arrival of first coats destined for spring success. This one bears many-sided evidence of the mode. First, it is of a very lovely silver gray material with matching flat caracul, second, it wears its cape in a new manner, stitched in back, and third, it is incrustated in smart panels. It is one of a number of important spring models now in the section.

Women's Coats, Sixth Floor, North, State

A georgette gown proves the chic of hand-fagoting by using it twice around each sleeve, and once around its V-neck forming a V design in back. Side jabot and plaited skirt front divided in the center give the new broken line. In navy, white, beige or raspberry, it is equally new for the midseason north or for resort wear, $75.

Women's Costumes, Sixth Floor, South, Wabash

Tweed and kasha divide honors in two new ensembles. The tweed is in interesting new ombre effect with blouse of matching two-tone jersey shot with metal. In beige and brown, $150. The kasha ensemble, left, uses the new angora embroidery for the edging of its collar and for its pockets. Its chic blouse is of satin crepe designed asymmetrically. In Pamico green, kasha tan and black, $97.50.

Women's Suits, Sixth Floor, North, State

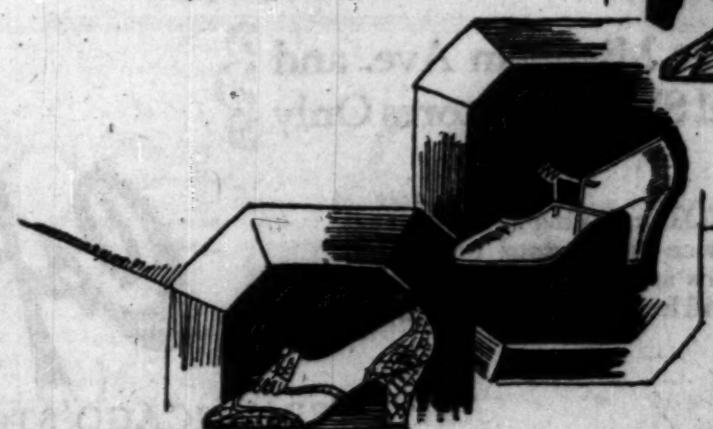

WOMEN'S APPAREL ON THE SIXTH FLOOR

This Custom-made Ensemble (extreme left) uses two materials of decided interest, thistleweight tweed and French Jersey. Its 3/4 coat and box plaited skirt are of the tweed; its blouse of jersey appliqued with bands of the tweed. It is but one of many fascinating creations our staff is designing for the South and for early spring.

CUSTOM APPAREL, FIFTH FLOOR, NORTH, WABASH

South-going shoes designed exclusively for the Shoe Salon! Three are pictured—a pump of beige ooze with blonde alligator, $22.50; a gore pump of gray or beige ooze, $22.50; a T-strap sandal of silk crash cloth, $18.50.

DEMOCRATS SEE ROAD TO TRUCE ON PROHIBITION

Would Stand on "State Rights" Plank Alone.

(Chicago Tribune From Service.)
Washington, D. C., Jan. 15.—(Special.)—Adoption of a state's rights plank satisfactory to both wets and drys is being proposed by leading Democrats as the most feasible solution of the controversy over a prohibition declaration by the Houston convention.

Consolidations of Democrats during the national committee meeting and Jackson day dinner in Washington during the last week have given the impression that the drys will be able to keep a wet plank out of the party platform though they are unable to prevent the nomination of Gov. Al Smith of New York, an outstanding wet, for the presidency.

Would Give Smith Chance.
A state's rights plank phrased in general terms, it is being suggested, would give Gov. Smith an opportunity to present his personal theory that this time-honored doctrine of the Democratic party requires local self government by the states on the questions of prohibition without interference by the federal government.

Gov. Smith's letter read at the Jackson day dinner was construed as meaning that his friends will seek the adoption of a plank specifically applying the state's rights doctrine to prohibition. That they will meet defeat on this proposition, however, is believed in view of the declaration of Senator Reed (Dem., Mo.), a wet, that the platform should be confined to issues on which the Democrats are united and similar expressions by John W. Davis, presidential nominee in 1924, and others.

His Ideas on Platform.
In his letter, Gov. Smith said that the platform should be built "by applying the fundamental principles of Jefferson Democracy unflinchingly to each specific problem of the day."
Those who are suggesting a general state's rights plank without any specific mention of prohibition believe that such action would be suitable if either Gov. Smith or Gov. Ritchie were the nominee and yet would not threaten a split in the party such as was suggested by Senator Reed.

FILIPINOS BALK AT ARMY MAN AS GOVERNOR'S AID

MANILA, P. I., Jan. 15.—(AP)—Filipino political leaders have expressed displeasure over the naming of Col. Blanton Winship, military aid to President Coolidge, as legal adviser to Henry L. Stimson, newly appointed governor general of the Philippines.

Mantel Roxas, speaker of the Philippine house, declared today that he understood from Washington reports that Stimson was to have civilian advisers. His objections to the appointment of Col. Winship were backed by Senator Quirino and Representatives Recto and Lacson.

"Both by temperament and training military men are generally unfit to hold positions as advisers," Roxas declared. "This fact was clearly demonstrated during the incumbency of the late Gov. Gen. Wood. Experience has made us believe that civilian counsellors are preferable to military men."

900 DELEGATES TO PEACE PARLEY HEAR WAR CHIEF

Davis Says U. S. Is True
Friend of All Nations.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 15.—(Special.)—Nine hundred delegates representing nine of the largest women's organizations in the country and a wide range of opinions on the cause and cure of war, heard Secretary of War Dwight F. Davis and spokesmen for the state and navy departments to night in an appeal for adequate national preparedness as the best insurance against war.

The occasion was the opening mass meeting of a three day conference called to discuss the administration's foreign and defense policies and among the delegates were many known as pacifist leaders and vigorous opponents of military training in schools and colleges. The aim of the sponsors of the conference is a peace program which will win approval of men and women's groups and churches generally.

"No nation turns more instinctively from all thought of war than the United States," declared Secretary

BLUE AND GRAY VETS ON SPOTTSYLVANIA BATTLEFIELDS BOARD

Washington, D. C., Jan. 15.—(Special.)—Maj. Gen. John L. Clem, retired, Union veteran, and Vivian Fleming, a Confederate veteran, have been designated by Secretary Davis of the war department as members of the Spotsylvania county battlefield memorial commission, which also will include Capt. George F. Hobson, army quartermaster corps. Both Gen. Clem and Fleming served on the preliminary commission and already have detailed knowledge of the fields which will be under their jurisdiction.

Davis. "There is no spirit of imperialism in the land. She is the true friend of all nations. She covets none of their possessions and she does not desire the overthrow of any of them. It is a fundamental principle in her government that the use of force is always in the background and always is the last resort."

For Defense Only. Preparedness for war, which this country should maintain, according to Secretary Davis, "is preparedness for defense against aggressive war."

"While," he said, "we have no thoughts of aggression or conquest, we insist upon unimolested development and the undisturbed government of our lives as we may see fit to order them. We insist upon security within our national frontiers and the free and undisturbed right to navigate the high seas. We must maintain the right to defend American lives and property. We wish neither to provoke war by over-preparedness nor to invite it by under-preparedness."

Guard Backs Regular Army.

The purpose of the national defense act, providing, as it does, for a strong national guard, organized reserves, and military training in schools and colleges and at citizens' training camps, Secretary Davis said, "is to put behind the small regular army a great body of peaceful citizens, following their daily vocations, who know that their own happiness and the happiness of all whom they love depends upon the continuance of peace, and who, nevertheless, at the call can take their places in the ranks and face an enemy in a way that will show that America can neither be intimidated nor taken by surprise."

"We feel," he continued, "that existence of such a trained body of citizens is one of the best guarantees of peace. Furthermore, our preparations are not a menace to other nations. The geographical situation of our country is such that we may make a safe defense without building up a menace to any other nation. The national defense act gives up a defensive system, a citizen army, such as Washington advocated."

Treaties Don't Guarantee Peace. Assistant Secretary of State William B. Castle Jr. warned the women that "when the pursuit of peace becomes a end, the cause of peace is injured," and that because an ideal has been written into law or into a treaty it does not become an inviolable principle.

"There are many, for example," he pointed out, "who believe that if the United States signed agreements with other nations to outlaw war, or treaties guaranteeing that under no possible circumstances should we go to war, there inevitably would be no war, but this is to ignore realities, to ignore human weakness, to mislead the fact that nations are not sublime moral entities but rather groups of fallible and passionate human beings."

"Power to be effective must be ready at the right time and the right place," asserted Rear Admiral Frank H. Schofield. "This fact lies at the basis of every military and naval demand made in time of peace in preparation for the future. The conditions that confront us in the matter of armaments are such that we cannot defer preparation until emergencies arise."

"I want to register here my firm belief that law without sanctions never will work in this world; that we cannot trust to law alone to govern international relations until there is developed in the spirit of man a greater submissiveness to the will of others than now exists. I leave it to you to judge whether the will to be submissive is waxing or waning among us."

BRENNAN DONS BATTLE TOGS TO MEET GOVERNOR

Seems Aroused by G. O. P.
Primary Program.

BY PARKE BROWN.

George E. Brennan, according to indications yesterday, will go to Springfield today in something of a bellicose mood.

As the result of an armistice arranged last week, the Democratic chief is to confer with Gov. Len Smith about the phase of the primary bills pending before the special session of the general assembly in which Brennan's most interested—the method of selecting Illinois delegates to the national convention.

The governor's willingness to try diplomacy instead of the lash surprised some of his closest associates, and it was widely predicted that he would consent to the Brennan plan of having the delegations named in the state conventions of the parties. But the title that Mr. Brennan would say in an interview yesterday was taken as an indication that he would leap into hostilities at the drop of the hat.

Stirred by G. O. P. Agreement.
After a conference with Gov. Small last Friday, the Thompson-Crowe leaders agreed to go along with him on his program for an April primary. This Mr. Brennan seemed to believe a combination of chief purpose of which was to prevent him from insuring a solid Al Smith delegation from Illinois.

The Democratic boss feels that the election of district delegates by popular vote might result in the election of some uneducated delegates, and that, since a presidential preference vote is merely advisory, they and possibly others might feel free to switch in the national convention.

Brennan Has Little to Say.
Mr. Brennan was a bit abrupt yesterday in declining to talk about his impending meeting with the governor. "The Republicans are getting together for just one reason," he said, "and that is to hamper the Democrats of the state. My position is that we should send a solid Al Smith delegation to Houston and they hope to prevent that by putting over a bill for an April primary. That's all I have to say."

But a little later he added this: "They are afraid of Al Smith. No better reason could be advanced for supporting him."

Because of these remarks Mr. Brennan is expected to go to the state capital this afternoon ready to show that the governor's program for an April primary will be blocked if he tries to slip things out on the present line. The Cook county committee of the Thompson-Crowe organization will meet this afternoon.

Dr. Alfred E. He advocated a ban on certain magazines held improper for young readers.

3 ARMY PLANES JOIN SEARCH FOR KIDNAP SLAYER

BULLETIN.

Grand Haven, Mich., Jan. 15.—(AP)—A man resembling closely the murderer of five year old Dorothy Schneider, who was slain late Thursday near Flint, was arrested today by Sheriff Fred Kamberbeck of Ottawa county. Bloodstained handkerchiefs, one of which was of the kind used by a girl, were found in the suspect's pockets.

Flint, Mich., Jan. 15.—(AP)—Three army pursuit planes from Selfridge field were enlisted today by the state and county police forces searching for the slayer of five year old Dorothy Schneider, who was kidnapped and brutally slain last Thursday.

The planes flew low over Genesee county searching for abandoned automobiles of the description of the one known to have been used by the man who kidnapped the child as she was returning to her home from kindergarten.

Osceola G. Olander, commissioner of state police, under orders of Gov. Fred G. Green, assumed full charge of the search and today established headquarters at the city police headquarters here. In company with Sheriff Frank Green and Chief of Police Fred Seavard, Olander visited the scene of the murder searching the ground near a small creek where the suspected body was discovered.

The bed of the creek will be dragged tomorrow in an attempt to find the instrument or instruments used by the slayer when he murdered the child.

Question Indiana Suspect.
Decatur, Ind., Jan. 15.—(AP)—Although subjected to severe questioning today, Earl W. Zell, 47, who is being held here as a suspect in connection with the kidnapping and slaying of Dorothy Schneider at Flint, Mich., still maintained that he knows nothing about the crime.

PRELIMINARIES TO HILL'S TRIAL ENTER 4TH WEEK

Ottawa, Ill., Jan. 15.—(AP)—The trial of Harry Hill, Stretcher youth accused of the murder of his mother, enters its fourth week tomorrow with the selection of a jury still under way.

For a week defense and prosecution have been trying to agree on four jurors, but to no avail. Eight were sworn in a week ago Saturday, and it was hoped the four remainders would be selected in short order, but the case is too widely known.

Lee O'Neill Browne, defense counsel and veteran of the Illinois legislature, who has been examining the veniremen, has been able to find but a few without opinions as to the guilt or innocence of the young man.

BY JOHN CLAYTON.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
SANTIAGO, Chile, Jan. 15.—A serious diplomatic clash between the United States and Chile is threatened as a result of the campaign against the United States carried on by La Nación, government owned newspaper here.

On Jan. 12 La Nación published an editorial against the United States' interventionist policy, signed by Luis Cruz Almeida, directing editor. It said Chile was not alone in repudiating the intervention of the United States, that in all Latin America a sense of indignation had arisen against the war in Nicaragua.

"Not Welcome in Chile."

"The North American government does not understand," the editorial said, "or affects not to understand, what this means for its prestige, just as it could not understand what the policies of Tacna-Arica signified. If it did not send an armed force to Chile it was perhaps in the face of evidence that Chile would not have given a welcome to the marines."

"The work of Pan-Americanism has been retrograded fifty years since President Coolidge reached an understanding with President Adolfo Diaz (of Nicaragua) and Gen. Moncada." When a protest was made assurances were given that despite the fact that the newspaper was owned by the government, the latter had no control over the newspaper's policy; that the sentiments expressed were not those of the Chilean government, and that a declaration would be issued to that effect.

Another attack on United States. Today, instead of the promised declaration, La Nación published an editorial against the American policy in Nicaragua and another article under the title of "Christians Without Christ," attacking the "Jewish ring" in New York. It printed a full page cartoon insulting the United States. Today's editorial charges the United States with having purchased the conscience of Nicaraguan leaders, exiles Gen. Sandino as a hero, and goes on to attack "imperialism" in the United States enterprises in South America.

The president of the republic, the foreign minister, and minister of the interior are at Valparaiso, and the American ambassador, William Miller, departed for Valparaiso at 5 o'clock this evening, evidently to urge a protest.

The statements of other newspapers have been restrained. Only the government owned La Nación has continued the campaign of abuse. In view of the stringent control exercised over newspapers here neither foreign diplomats nor Americans can believe that the government is divorced from the ideas expressed in La Nación. It is expected here that the United States will call for an accounting by the Chilean government.

GOODRICH SEEKS WAY TO REDUCE CITY FIRE LOSSES

"If Chicagoans were to see $25,000,000 in pure gold poured into Lake Michigan each year these would be a riot. No one would fail to be aroused at such waste," said Fire Commissioner Albert W. Goodrich yesterday, "yet practically that amount is spent each year on extinguishing and preventing fires, largely caused by carelessness, and few people are alarmed."

The $25,000,000 figure, Mr. Goodrich explained, includes maintenance, interest on investment, fire losses, pension funds, etc. "Still the figure is colossal," he said. "Europe is far ahead of the United States in fire prevention. Other cities in America are ahead of Chicago, and I propose to take drastic steps to reduce the expense."

Among plans suggested for cutting costs was one requiring fire insurance companies to conduct investigations before issuing policies on property. Another suggested that persons owning or leasing property in which fires occurred should be obliged to appear before the nearest division fire marshal and make an explanation of the reason for the fire.

Commissioner Goodrich pointed to the fact that $3,000,000 less had been paid out by insurance companies for fire losses in the last eight months of 1927 than in the same period of the previous year, proving, he said, that progress is possible.

Church Radio Programs Win Elmer's Vote

Decides Sunday Broadcast Is as It Should Be.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

From the time that radio became a prominent household article there have been appearing many letters from listeners for and against numerous Sunday church service broadcasts.

While listening in yesterday I kept this subject in mind from early forenoon until late at night, and it was found that church services were broadcast in this city until noon, while in the afternoon the dominating tone of the music was religious.

My own reaction is that since Sunday is Sunday and this day comes only once a week; that since the sermons and lectures and talks are instructive and the music everywhere is good, that they are acknowledged to be meeting needs of many minds of many kinds, these broadcasts are, therefore, entirely justified, and the gains from them outweigh the objections.

The stellar concert of the day was the joint recital by Agnes Davis, soprano, and Paul Kochanski, violinist, from New York, through W-G-N, 8:15. Chief interest centered upon Miss Davis because of her having been the winning contestant in a national radio audition contest.

Judging from her recital last evening, there would seem to be no doubt that Miss Davis is worthy of her laurels. That her voice is not a completely trained one was obvious. But that she has native talent and ability to become a prominent figure in the musical world after her coming two years of study is completed, there is little doubt. It was a large voice, of considerable volume; there were evidences of color. The voice register is very even throughout its large compass. And there is about her singing a sweetness of voice and a pleasingness of quality that is assuring.

The work of Mr. Kochanski, of course, was that of a finished artist. There were two weekly feature programs from New York through W-G-N that were especially attractive. The first was the Symphony Hour, 2 to 3 o'clock, in which Bach's D minor concerto for two violins was featured. The second was the Cathedral hour, 3 to 4, where cathedral chimes are heard at the beginning and close of each selection and the selections were choicely lovely.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Pan Broiling of Steaks.

We might just as well call pan broiled steaks roasted. The method is really a roasting on top of the stove. Broiling, itself, has been described as a method of roasting applied to thin pieces of meat, and real broiling is the direct rays of heat, which soon incrust the surface in a desirable way.

In pan broiling, which is neither frying nor sautéing, there is hot iron completely between the meat and the heat. In broiling there is also hot iron between a part of the meat and the heat. A broiler has to be oiled or greased or lean meat will stick to it and pieces will be broken off when a steak is turned. For the same reason we must grease a hot frying pan, but not have enough free fat of any sort on it to burn.

In pan broiling anything that is rather fat, enough of the fat may cook out so that it will be necessary to pour it off before the meat is done, otherwise it will have a fried look and taste like meat cooked in fat.

First heat the pan, then rub it with the fat just as a broiler is rubbed, and have the pan piping hot. The cold meat cools it, yet it will soon sear the meat, which should then be turned and the other side seared. In lifting the meat for turning it should not be pierced with a fork, unless it is almost red hot. After the meat is seared on both sides, the heat must be lowered as in broiling a steak, and until it is cooked through there should never be enough heat to draw out the juices. They will not come out on the down side, anyway, but they may come out on the top if the heat underneath is strong; then they will boil out and be lost.

It is not steaks alone that can be pan broiled; yet it is a good method even for cooking tenderloin steaks, and a way to sear the pan is to put in a little cold suet, heat it slowly enough so that the fat will cook out while it is getting blistering hot. Then one may add a tablespoon of butter for a large pan, and as soon as it is hot put the meat in. The fat that has raised it to that point is much too strong a one to continue and the flame must be lowered.

A few days ago I had lunch with a friend in a crowded hotel tea room. When we had finished eating, without thinking, I picked up my dishes and walked half way through the room before I remembered where I was.

Everyone stared at me with amazement as I dropped the dishes on the nearest table paid the check and fled.

Wind Cuts Distance of Riders.

A raw north wind, which literally fattened the hopes of many expert riders, raised havoc with the twenty-third annual ski jumping tournament of the Norge club at F&W River grove, near Cary, yesterday afternoon. Of more than three score skiers who took part in the meet, just twenty-one were able to maintain their balance as they landed on the hill and thus finish in the running. Riders who made beautiful jumps and were apparently about to make considerable distances were caught by the strong wind and blown back on their haunches. Thirty-one managed to stand up for one jump, but of these, ten slipped up on the second effort.

Major honors went to Peder Falstad, Canton, S. D., whose two jumps for a total distance of 251 feet, 127 and 124 feet, respectively, plus the one he showed in the air, earned him the most championship and the Chicago medal. Class B honors were won by Roy Mikkelsen, a youth who but recently came to this country from Norway. Mikkelsen jumped 103 and 111 feet, the last being the longest jump in class B. Longest jump honors were awarded to Carl Hall of Detroit, Mich., who hurled himself 123 feet in his first attempt. His second effort was only good for 109 feet.

Brant Mikkelsen, Norge club, won the prize for the best showing by a Norwegian. It consisted of a refund offered by Carl Albertson, who operates a reindeer farm in Alaska. Mikkelsen placed fifth in the meet standing.

15,000 Attend Meet.

Aside from the wind, the day was perfect for a ski meet, but apparently the public thought not, for the total attendance of 15,000 dwindled to 10,000. This was due, according to Johnny Ohs, Norge club secretary, to the fact that the dampness in Chicago yesterday morning caused people to think that the meet would not be held.

The meet started a bit auspiciously when Arne Sletner, Norge, took off from his loft in the clouds and pumped W. C. It looked as though Sletner would go much farther down the hill, but the wind was blowing strong and held him back. Meet judges declared that the wind kept marks down and held him back. The next five riders sprang.

Anders Haugen, Ogdens Dunes club, and winner of last Sunday's Forest preserve ski meet at Palos hills, made two jumps of 110 and 114 feet and was given a great cheer by the crowd. In justice to Haugen and many of the other expert riders it might be said that the jumping of Falstad and Hall was made at a time when the wind was not quite so strong. But even at that they were handicapped, as their marks were away below the slide road, 166 feet, jointly held by Henry Hall, a brother of Carl's, and Alf Bakke, Norge.

Two Riders Injured.

So strong was the wind that two riders, Thorvald Gulbeck and George Gunderson, both of the Norge club, were turned upside down and landed on their heads. Gulbeck, aside from a shaking up, was unhurt. Gunderson was carried to the clubhouse, where he was given treatment and later was able to leave.

Lars Haugen, national ski champion, did not fare so well. He sprang on his first attempt and did not try again. Nels Nielsen, Revelstoke, B. C., holder of the world's record of 212 feet, made a comparatively modest jump of 107 and 111 feet, respectively. Clarence Hall, another brother of Carl's, jumped 114 and 112 feet.

Hans Troy of Wisconsin's class A entry, fell, as did Mory Waterman, another Badger rider, in the class B event. Knut Dahl, teammate of Troy and Waterman, was more successful. Competing in the class B event, he jumped 84 and 78 feet, respectively. The Tapping of Canada fell.

Indiana-Chicago Fives Play Tonight; Honor Ken Rouse

Planning to stop Indiana's powerful offensive by manning Bracken's defense, the Hoosiers' rapid fire scorers, the University of Chicago's basketball team will make its third bid to break into the Big Ten victory column at Bartlett gymnasium tonight. The game will start at 8 o'clock.

Between the halves of the game, Kenneth A. Rouse, captain of the Maroon football team last season, will be presented with the Big Ten trophy awarded to the Big Ten player chosen as of the greatest value to his team during the season of 1927. The presentation of the trophy, a sterling silver football, actual size, will be made by Harvey T. Woodruff of The Tribune sports staff. A capacity crowd will attend the game and witness the award.

The Maroon cagers, boasting a ten-point defense on its home court that all teams find it difficult to break through, rates a much better chance of beating Indiana than it did nine days ago, when the two teams met at Bloomington and Indiana romped away during the second half to a 32 to 13 victory.

McCracken Went Wild.

McCracken, playing his first Big Ten game last night, waited in back of the Maroon guards and tossed in eleven field goals. He added a pair of free throws to these to ring up twenty-four points, which is only three less than the entire Maroon squad has been able to register in both of its conference games.

However, feeding McCracken in that game were Wells and Beckner, each a crack shot in his own right, and in the event that the Maroon players assigned to stop McCracken, he be George Farrell or Giet, takes care of his assignment effectively, there is the possibility that Wells or Beckner will break loose.

Wells scored six baskets at Ann Arbor Saturday night and Beckner scored five. McCracken, probably as a result of effective scouting, was held to four.

Thus facing a triple threat offensive that will be hard to stop by halting one man and with their own offensive anything but brilliant, the local five seems in for another busy night.

Michigan Outscored Indiana.

Michigan handed Indiana an unexpected setback Saturday night by the simple expedient of outscoring the Hoosiers, 42 to 41. Chicago was idle, but a lot of basket work was in order to avoid more of last week's happenings when Northwestern got away with a 16-14 victory because the Maroons were unable to locate the basket in their own gym.

Two other games tonight will help usher in the second week of Big Ten cage competition. Illinois shows at Wisconsin, while Ohio State will bump into trouble when it invades Michigan.

The undefeated Wisconsin outfit, which has won seven straight games this season, including three Big Ten games, will try to get a technical advantage in the standing over Northwestern and Purdue by winning from Illinois.

The Badgers, Northwestern and Purdue constitute the undefeated elite of the conference, but the Bollweckers have engaged in only one league contest as yet, while the Wildcats have accumulated three victories, as has Wisconsin.

With Capt. Lou Behr and Charley Andrews cashing in on the advantages that seven years of constant teamwork add to natural ability, Wisconsin should roll merrily along their title in their own gym.

Long Beach, Cal., Jan. 15.—(AP)—Leo Diegel, New York, and Bill Mehlhorn of Wilkesburg, Pa., today tied for first place in the $2,500 Long Beach open golf tournament, with scores of 282. First and second money, aggregating $1,250, will be split between them.

MacDonald Smith, Long Island, N. Y., and Tommy Armour of Washington, D. C., placed second in the money with 288. Horton Smith of Joplin, Mo., was third with 287, and Billie Burke of Rochester, N. Y., and Von Elm tied for fourth with 291.

Walsh Ties for Seventh.

Hutt Martin, Reno, Nev.; Vic Owens of San Pedro, and Ed Dudley of Hollywood split fifth money with 288, while the purse for sixth place was divided among Larry Nabholz, Cleveland, O.; Al Espinosa, Chicago; Jack Tarrant, Los Angeles; and Willard Hutchison of Pasadena, Cal., with 290.

Seventh place went to Frank Walsh, Appleton, Wis., and John Black, Oakland, with 291, and eighth was awarded among Bobby Cruickshank, New York; Joe Turnesa, New York; and Abe Espinosa, Chicago, with 292. Mehlhorn was leading Diegel two holes at the start of the final nine strokes. Starting the last hole, they were all even. "Wild Bill" drove out of bounds, but came back and sank a 30 foot putt for a par five. Diegel, with a six foot downhill putt for a 24.

JEFF SANTIAGO SURPRISES HI LI FANS BY WINNING

Proves He Doesn't Need "Encouragement."

Senior Jeff Santiago does not require financial encouragement to win local boxing matches.

With the regular Sunday night lid on encouragement clamped down at the Rainbow Fronton, Little Jeff stepped out and surprised most of those in the audience by winning the feature 15 points doubles match while paired with Maguregui. It was Little Jeff's vicious passes with the cesta which turned defeat into victory, for the team of Ramos and Marcelino was out in front by a score of 7 to 1 at one stage of the battle and looked to be a certain winner.

Turns Back Foe Single Handed.

Little Jeff was doing the serving and his drives were all hard and difficult. When it came time to stage the winning rally he turned back Ramos and Marcelino almost single handed.

With no transactions being made down to the Fronton palm garden a program of speed was offered, not a singles event being carded during the night. There was another 15 points match offered with Vicente, Barrutia and Mugica on one side, against Utraz and Joaquin. The three man team just managed to win by a 15 to 14 score.

Small Crowd Turns Out.

When there is no encouragement at the Rainbow, the attendance slumps, and only a small gathering turned out to see last night's games decided. The summarizer:

National Ring Body Orders 3 Champs to Defend Crowns

IN BAD

New York, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Boxing champions in three divisions—Mickey Walker of the middleweight, Joe Dundee, welterweight, and Sammy Mandell, lightweight, today were ordered by the National Boxing association to sign for defense bouts against qualified contenders acceptable to the N. B. A. or risk vacation of their respective titles.

Furthemore, the trio of champions must agree to decision bouts against qualified contenders acceptable to the N. B. A. or risk vacation of their respective titles.

President Thomas E. Donohue of the association declared in an ultimatum that he has the approval of all states enrolled in the organization. California and New York state alone are not members of the association.

Must Sign by Feb. 16.

"Existing conditions regarding boxing champions were brought to the attention of the individual states by replying that he was willing to defend his crown against any challenger if some promoter or manager would give him a guarantee on which he could 'make some money.'"

"I'm ready to meet any challenger if the promoter or manager is found to put up a guarantee on which I can make some money. Titles are won or lost in the ring and the National Boxing association ought to know that instead of trying to create or dispose of titles by resolutions," Mandell said.

Terre Haute, Ind., Jan. 15.—(AP)—Farmer Joe Cooper, local boxer, has been matched to meet Joe Dundee, welterweight champion, in a twelve round decision match in Cleveland on Jan. 30, according to a dispatch received here today from Broadway.

CANADIANS BEAT ST. LOUIS SOCCER ELEVEN BY 4 TO 1

Win First Match in Title Cup Series.

Led by Young, center forward, who scored three goals, the Canadian club yesterday swamped the Tablers soccer team of St. Louis, 4 to 1, in the first round of the national competition at De Paul field.

The score fails to show the Canadians' superiority, as they toyed with the Tablers after the first 15 minutes of play. Young scored two of his goals in the first 36 minutes.

One minute before the half ended Young accounted for his third goal and the Canucks led at half time, 3 to 1. Rickard's goal was the only score for St. Louis. Five minutes before the final whistle Pete Blair counted the fourth goal for the Canadians. Lineup:

CANADIANS (4). Rickard (1). Blair (1). Young (2). Goals—Young (2), Blair (1). Tablers (1). Blair (1). Young (2). Goals—Young (2), Blair (1).

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 15.—The Chicago Bricklayers' soccer team won their first round game of the national cup competition here today, defeating the Gar Woods, Detroit eleven, 5 to 2, in a well played game.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 15.—Buda A. A. soccer team (Chicago easily defeated the Moran Hawks, St. Louis eleven, in their first round game of the national cup competition today. The score was 6 to 3, the Chicagoans having the edge throughout the play.

GRANGE'S ELEVEN WINS.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 15.—(U.P.)—Red Grange's New York Yankees defeated the Erie Braves-Tul Inlay Giants, 7-0, in a professional football game today. Bo Molenda, former Michigan university star, scored the touchdown and kicked goal.

Sharkey Jams Plans.

Having agreed to all this, Rickard naturally had a sneeze about that Jack Sharkey would knock out Tom Heeney in their fight at the New Garden Friday night. He wants to use Sharkey in one of the Tunney productions, but for the second time he had Sharkey built up almost to the proper size, only to see him dwindle. Rickard probably will rematch Sharkey with Heeney in the sneeze about that Heeney will fall down and stay down. Heeney, being clumsy and a setup for a boxer of Tunney's style, is not regarded as suitable at all.

Former Loyola U. Pitcher Will Get Trial with Reds.
